Improved seals for use on in-ground Rotary Lifts.

Original version had smaller static seal ribs, which may not adequately seal on the casing flange of older lifts that exhibit bearing wear and plunger play.

Larger, wider static seal ribs vastly improve the performance specifically on older Rotary lifts with worn bearings and plunger play.

These seals fit in the following lift models:

- FP46A & H
- PF10A & H
- DT028
- 28HR
- WRP90
- WABU10A & H
- 35AR/HR
- AC50
- AC60
- AT70
- AT101210

Seals for automotive lifts whether an in-ground model or surface mount style are among one of SVI's top specialities. In fact, our true start with supplying seals goes back in time to even before our official formation as a company in 1977.

SVI's founder is a well respected member of the modern hydraulics era. In the 1960's he became an important problem solver to most of the autolift manufacturers by supplying them with seals and solutions to problems. He later built one of the largest seal distribution businesses in the US and subsequently sold it in the late 1980's to a large Dutch Corporation.

Today, SVI continues with its expertise regarding seals. Both SVI and its affiliate company, Valley Precision Seal supply seals and sealing solutions to autolift manufacturers, heavy equipment manufacturers, the auto racing industry and for valves used in nuclear power plants across the country. The next time you work on a lift, watch an auto race on TV, see someone operating a bulldozer or drive by a power plant you are looking at SVI products whether you know or not. For real sealing solutions, SVI is your answer!

Why buy your autolift seals from anyone else? Stop paying more for pretty packaging or someone's name and order direct from the industry's source. Lift manufacturers don't make seals, they simply buy them and they resell them.
