In addition to Standard Adapters, SVI offers:

Custom Adapters for In-Ground Lifts!

Put SVI's engineering expertise to work for your customers so everyone can rest assured that their SVI-made special adapters are right for the job. Bring us your custom adapter requirements and for no extra charge, SVI engineers will design the proper strength that you need.

SVI can tailor make adapters for most makes and models of lifts found in the field. We enjoy the aspect of problem solving and using our knowledge and creativity to come up with solutions that fit.

HERE ARE JUST A FEW EXAMPLES:

CUSTOM SADDLE FOR RV MANUFACTURER

This saddle was designed by SVI engineers to meet the needs of an RV manufacturer whose chassis had changed. It fits on a model AC-1010 lift that was produced by Western Hoist. This saddle and adapter Kit provides extended reach capability and quick position pad style adapters.

CUSTOM SLIDING SADDLE ASSEMBLY

This custom sliding saddle assembly was designed to fit a fleet of trucks with a longer wheelbase. SVI's engineering team solved the problem so the trucks were able to be lifted properly for service. The sliding saddle assembly was designed so the lift's capacity would not need to be downrated and the customer was able to reuse their existing adapters.

BH-9755-55A are custom designed rear adapters that have become a standard in the SVI product line. The adapters are for use on Rotary fore and aft bus and truck lifts. The 17" height provides more clearance around the differential.

Can be made to fit other makes and models.

MODIFIED SADDLE WITH SPECIAL ADAPTERS

A valued distributor in Indiana needed help with a special application that presented itself. The standard saddle and adapter combination that was originally supplied on their customers Rotary lift did not properly reach the lifting points to accommodate some newly purchased vehicles. This meant they were having difficulty in properly and safely lifting the new wider wheelbase vehicles and something needed to be done. SVI was the first and most logical choice to handle such a request.

After listening to the scope of the job and the exact requirements, SVI went immediately to work. The customer needed a modified saddle with special adapters for an older Rotary lift model AT70E that would provide 70" of reach yet still allow for continued use of the standard adapters that were originally supplied. SVI was able to do it all and even upgrade the strength of the saddle at the same time. When fast turn around and special requirements go hand in hand,

SVI is your answer!

Rubber Pad Adapter
For Globe In-Ground
BH-9420-29

BH-9667-20TS is for use in saddles found on the rear section of 10-5/8" and 12-5/8" Weaver and SVI heavy duty lift models. This adapter is made special to provide more clearance between the saddle and the differential housing on some newer model trucks. The 20TS is a 3" taller version than its cousin the -20 and is constructed with a full 3/4" thick riser plate.

CUSTOM HEAVY DUTY ADAPTERS

As new models of trucks and buses are introduced by the manufacturers, existing heavy duty lift adapters don't always match up with newly designed undercarriages.

The adapters pictured (right) are a variation of a Rotary design, but made both taller than standard and intended to fit a Weaver saddle. These adapters properly solved clearance issues the shop was encountering. The adapter pictured left was built for a municipal garage that purchased a Sterling tandem axle truck that would be used in the winter to plow and spread salt. This adapter allows the shop to lift the Sterling truck safely between the tandem axles rather than just by one of the two axles. It was also designed to still function as axle engaging for their other single axle vehicles. This adapter solved the problem and handles all of their vehicles so adapter switches never need to be made.

Octagon Heavy Duty Rubber Pad vs. Urethane Pad

An SVI Exclusive

for Challenger CL-10 and many others

SVI is offering this Heavy-Duty Rubber Pad as an alternative to the Urethane Snap-In Pad (Ref A1104-H) that you have been ordering. The issue we've found with the Urethane Pad is called "compression set". With the weight of the vehicle pressing down on the urethane pad, it is pancaking or compressing the pad outward. The urethane does not rebound well and takes a compression set. As the urethane pad gets wider and wider against the two solid sides it is rejected from expanding horizontal and subsequently bows upward causing the undesirable outcome and appearance. This new Heavy-Duty Rubber Arm Pad is the better choice for your application.

Heavy Duty Bolt-On Style Rubber Arm Pad

Each pad is produced from a special 3/8" thick 2-ply durable reinforced material to increase service life.

Jack / Lifting Pads for Tesla Models 3, S, X

One-piece, fully insulated pad that will not damage paint.

SVI's Jack / Lifting Pads for Tesla Models 3, S and X are designed to fit snugly into and hang from the jack points for easy alignment when using floor jacks and professional car lifts. Our jack pad tool is the most popular selling jack pad adapter for Tesla 3, S and X. The simple round design assures that the pad will be inserted into the jack point correctly, whereas, rectangular shaped tools can be inadvertently inserted with the incorrect orientation.

Keep a set of these on hand to be sure your local tire and repair shop properly lifts your vehicle without damaging your battery or under carriage.

Also available as a set of 4 in a plastic storage tube. SVI is your answer!

Screw-Up Adapter*

A distributor contacted SVI with a request asking that we produce slip-on height extensions for his customers that own Quality Lift model Q10000. Even though the lift is supplied standard with double screw-up style adapters, sometimes at full spin they still are not high enough. This means a slip-on height extension is necessary in certain situations and for certain vehicles. Of course, SVI responded to the request and is now pleased to let you know about our height extension for Quality Lifts Q10000, 9000AS, others.

When you have an idea, need something special or just simply want a problem you are encountering solved give us a call. We will see what we can come up with. SVI has an innovative can-do spirit and enjoys working on solutions to challenges and opportunities that you discover every day.

Octagon Heavy Duty Rubber Pad vs. Urethane Pad

An SVI Exclusive

for Challenger CL-10 and many others

SVI is offering this Heavy-Duty Rubber Pad as an alternative to the Urethane Snap-In Pad (Ref A1104-H) that you have been ordering. The issue we've found with the Urethane Pad is called "compression set". With the weight of the vehicle pressing down on the urethane pad, it is pancaking or compressing the pad outward. The urethane does not rebound well and takes a compression set. As the urethane pad gets wider and wider against the two solid sides it is rejected from expanding horizontal and subsequently bows upward causing the undesirable outcome and appearance. This new Heavy-Duty Rubber Arm Pad is the better choice for your application.

An Alternative to Snap-In Urethane Pad

Heavy Duty Bolt-On Style Rubber Arm Pad

Each pad is produced from a special 3/8" thick 2-ply durable reinforced material to increase service life.

Shape may vary depending on height extension.

A distributor contacted SVI with a request asking that we produce slip-on height extensions for his customers that own Quality Lift model Q10000. Even though the lift is supplied standard with double screw-up style adapters, sometimes at full spin they still are not high enough. This means a slip-on height extension is necessary in certain situations and for certain vehicles. Of course, SVI responded to the request and is now pleased to let you know about our height extension for Quality Lifts Q10000, 9000AS, others.

When you have an idea, need something special or just simply want a problem you are encountering solved give us a call. We will see what we can come up with. SVI has an innovative can-do spirit and enjoys working on solutions to challenges and opportunities that you discover every day.
